SUBJECT: SHP Orientation 2023

Welcome once again to the School of Health Professions!

As a new School of Health Professions (SHP) student, you are required to attend our orientation Monday, May 22, 2023. A great deal of very important information will be covered. The SHP orientation on May 22 begins promptly at 10 am and will run through 11 am.

You will also be required to participate in a separate program specific orientation, immediately following the SHP orientation. Be sure to check your email often for updates directly from your program.

Please continue to check our orientation website often for additional updates:
<https://healthprofessions.stonybrookmedicine.edu/students/incoming/orientation>.

You will also be enrolled in our SHP Community Page in Brightspace, a great resource for new and returning students.

Please note that any other communication you may receive from Stony Brook regarding orientation programs may refer to the west campus summer orientation, which is not for Health Professions students. To avoid confusion, discard it. Our orientation requires no reservation.
