

Clinical Laboratory Sciences

ASCP's Inaugural Laboratory Day of Service - April 17, 2024

Students, faculty and staff from Stony Brook University's School of Health Professions, Clinical Laboratory Sciences (CLS) program hosted a day of service event to celebrate lab week. ASCP Career Ambassador and CLS's Department Chair, Jeannie Guglielmo, led the group in organizing an interactive table display as part of a "Wellness Wednesday" event that helped to spread awareness of the CLS profession and promote community engagement. Highlights from this event included: pipette challenges, microplate guess that organism, and student made CLS theme keychains.

